DESCRIPTION

next125 kitchens are full of colour, shapes and practical elements. With its unusual colour combination of Indian red, cobalt green and olive yellow, the latest kitchen in our campaign certainly makes a visual statement. But there is also a system behind the colours: each shade represents a different functional area.

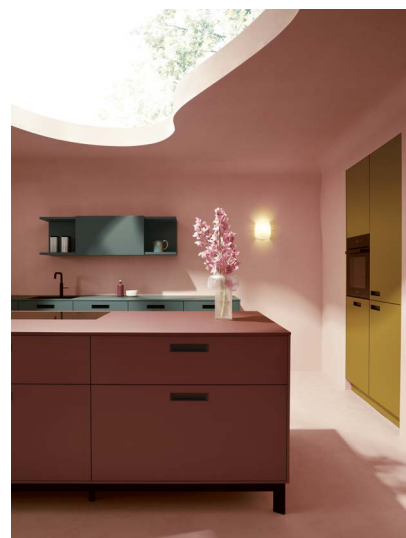

The minimalist, cubic shapes make the colours really stand out. The filigree aluminium system frame in onyx black, which makes up the unit's barely perceptible delicate frame, gives the impression the unit is floating.

In terms of functionality, the kitchen leaves nothing to be desired: water purification systems find their place in a specially designed base unit; the shelving with a sliding door provides discreet storage space; and Flex-Boxes made from moulded non-woven material are interesting to the touch and ideal for storing your best cutlery.

Minimalist recessed handles are comfortable to hold and help you to keep a grip on the fast-paced everyday life in the kitchen.
